Terms & Conditions

You must make sure that all animals travelling as part of the carriage of pets' policy are put in proper, adequate and secure containers. If you fail to do this, we will not carry the animal.

You must present to us all health and vaccination certificates, entry permits, transit permits, exit permits and other documents needed for the animals. If you fail to do this, we may decide not to carry the animal.

The animal must be at least 8 weeks of age.

Unless carrying the animal is covered by liability rules of convention, we will not responsible for their loss, sickness, injury or death unless we have been negligent.

We are not liable to you for any loss you suffer because you do not have the health and vaccination certificates, entry permit, exit permits and other documents needed for your animal. You must repay to us any fines, costs, charges, losses or liabilities we have paid or suffered because you did not have these documents.

Right of refusal. We reserve the right, at our absolute discretion, to refuse to carry any animals. All carriage is in accordance with the conditions of carriage detailed in the current edition of the IATA Live Animals Regulations.
